

Bonn, May 2019

Dear Sir or Madam,
Dear Members

Never before have plastics, and thus plastics recycling, been at the centre of attention as they are today. And plastics recycling is changing rapidly; acquisitions, takeovers and restructuring have been seen. Plastics recycling in Germany is booming.

The current issues relating to plastics recycling will be discussed at a two-day European industry event. bvse-Bundesverband Sekundärrohstoffe und Entsorgung e.V. – and its specialist association for plastic recycling – would like to cordially invite you to the 22nd International Conference on Plastics Recycling in Bad Neuenahr on 4 + 5 June 2019.

This time, the conference will start with the podium discussion “Plastics recycling controversial”, Tuesday, 4 June 2019, 1.30pm. The subjects “Plastic image”, “Design for recycling” and “Plastics recycling” will be discussed controversially in pairs.

This will be followed by two workshops in parallel. The title of Workshop A, under the auspices of Dr Probst, is “Science and plastics recycling: The future of plastics recycling”. Workshop B, under the auspices of Rainer Mantel, has the title “100 per cent recycling for plastic waste?”.

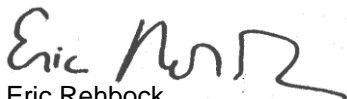

Following on from the workshops, there will be the traditional barbecue evening at 7.00pm – BBQ on the terrace of the Kurhaus (assembly rooms) garden. This is a good opportunity for networking in a friendly atmosphere.

At 10.00am on Wednesday, 5 June 2019, there will be a workshop on packaging design, led by Dr Bosewitz and, in parallel to this, the public meeting of the Working Group on International Plastics Markets. The Working Group on International Plastics Markets will debate the current situation on the export of plastics to the Far East.

The International Conference on Plastics Recycling is the industry’s central meeting on plastics recycling, which is supplemented by an exhibitors’ forum and a product exhibition. The Conference on Plastics Recycling is the biggest plastic recycling event in Europe. An average of 450 delegates attend this conference.

We believe that we have drawn up a very interesting programme for the 22nd International Conference on Plastics Recycling for you and are looking forward to welcoming you to Bad Neuenahr.

Yours sincerely

Eric Rehbock
Executive Director

Dr. habil. Thomas Probst
Speaker and Organiser

We would like to thank our silver sponsors for the kind support for the 22nd International Conference on Plastics Recycling
